POSTAL COMMUNICATION AT

HOME AND ABROAD. Vancouver Island is no longer a terra in- hope to step in for an equal share in the adcognita in the old country-more has been vantages to be reaped from the hard labor said and written about our own colony in and perseverance of the few industrious men the past eighteen months than during the who are undergoing the toil of prospecting, whole period of her previous existence as a when the result of some weeks' colony, and we are not suprised to find it shows a decidedly profitable result, the mar noticed in many of the English papers who has hung back and allowed others to de that the postal communications with this colony are worse than with any other part of too late to step in and take his equal share in the known world. We feel that the observ- the benefit accruing from that work. Gold ation is just, and it applies to our internal mining is certainly to a great extent a lottery arrangements quite as forcible as to the but where there is an undoubted presence of oceanic postage; the latter we hope to see gold, and the question is only as to quantity remedied by the subsidy of a line of English and locality, it is those who are first in the steamers direct from Panama, but in this field and who strive the hardest that will, and matter we depend more upon the action of others than our own exertions, for it seems that the inhabitants of Victoria will not take any trouble in the matter. In most towns we should long ere this have had public meetings on the matter and have brought agi-STEAM ENGINE CO., tation to bear upon it. If we are silent in the matter here, how can we expect it to be arranged for us at home? fortunately others than the townspeople of Victoria are interested in t is matter, and may, without our asking for it, establish this line of postage for us ; left to ourselves, it seems we hardly think it worth while to ask for a boon which we might in all probability receive by the asking -- at all events the expression of a public meeting in favor of it, would givo us a lift in the right direction. We hope, however to see the question of postal communication between Victoria and the country districts brought before the House during the present Session.

The members for the most distant portions of the Island that are represented in parliament will be doing their constituents the best service that they can hope to perform for them by increasing their facilities of obtaining intelligence from the capital, and those districts which are not represented will reap their share of the advantages to be gained from improved postal arrangements. express, which now carries on the entire correspondence between Victoria and the mines and which had its origin in private enterprise shows what can be done. There is, no doubt, that an undertaking of this nature, in private hands, is made self-supporting and remunera-tive, whilst a similar undertaking, in the hands of the Government Executive would be conducted for a long time at a loss. The machinery which is employed by government to carry out a work of this nature is too cumbersome to be set in motion without a great expense, which a private company will take care to avoid; hence it comes to pass that the mails in British Columbia are carried by contract by the proprietor of the express and as long as this is the case the post will never be remunerative. Parties writing, have more confidence in the express than in the government mail, and though the expense may be greater they will rather patronize it. There is no doubt that, notwithstanding we are not to be more closely united at present, an arrangement might be made with the sister colony for the carriage of mail matter between Victoria and the mines, which would give regularity and dispatch at a much cheaper rate than is at present paid. Every country is benefitted greatly by cheap rates of postage but in this respect these colonies are, beyon doubt, far behind the rest of the world. We have always desired as far as possible to place before our readers an impartial acas far as possible from what is going on, some sort of basis on which to ground future pros pects. We have at all times avoided painting in too glowing colors the chances of success, which we, in common with all, who desire the prosperity of the colony, hope may be realised. But at the present time, when the public mind is being disturbed by the excitement attendent upon the discovery of gold in our immediate vicinity, and is very apt to be easily swayed by the lightly spoken and unstudied opinions of those who have the reputation of being skilled miners, and who by a few thoughtless words in praise or disparagement of the particular locality may influence materially those who have started upon prospecting expeditions, we deem it our duty to our readers, but more especially those who are engaged in prospecting at the Douglas diggings or who have any intention of spending their time in that occupation, to disregard as far as possible all strong and decided opinions for or against the diggings. As we have already pointed out, it is utterly impossible that the gold district can be thou oughly and efficiently prospected in a few days or weeks. There is no doubt whatever that gold in greater or less quantities is to be found, and the great question to decide is whether or not it can be discovered in quantities sufficient to pay for the working. In order to prospect the diggings properly i will be necessary to sink shafts in several directions and carefully to wash all the dirt, in which gold is found to exist, with quicksilver, before a fair estimate can be obtained of the probable results. There never was gold found in any locality where greater or better facilities for working offered, and it must be borne in mind that diggings so sit uated although yielding comparatively small pay can be worked at a profit, and will afford employment to many who are desirous of it although large fortunes may not be realised, and it is of much greater importance to our town and colony that work should be given to many than that a few should reap large Within the last few days many have returned from the scene of the new diggings, and are very ready in expressing their opinion that "it is played out," and the veteran croakers proclaim to the world how they made similar discoveries some years ago with a similar result. It is impossible to deprecate the folly and mischief of such remarks too much, and they only betray the ignorance and idleness, or the lack of perseverance, and incompetence of those, who, after a mere cursory glance at the operations of others, or some slight and imperfect work of their own, venture to assert opinions which only those who have steadily and perseveringly prospected the country are really quatified to offer. Whatever experience a miner may have had he has no right to mislead others by his assumption of being able, through the partial exercise of that experience, to decide upon the prospects of the diggings which he has not the energy or pluck to examine thoroughly for himself. Men have gone out to the Donglas diggings who would not stop and work there if they could earn $10 a description or more; they have come down from Cariboo to enjoy themselves and do not want to labor any more at present, they were content to go and dig a hole two or three feet deep and then because they do not find nuggets as large as pigeons' eggs to come back and pronounce

Monday, Oct. 26, 1833.

At the sitting of the Court this morning, the Chief Justice intimated to the suitors that he would take the list and try the causes as set down in their order, but that owing to the House of Assembly taking possession of the Court House at three o'clock he could not sit after half-past two, otherwise he would sit until five o'clock. His Honor recommended those suitors whose cases were low down in the list to retire, as it was impossible that all the list to retire, as it was impossible that all the cases could be tried.

WILLIAMS V. JACKSON

Was an action for $40 for damage done to a wagon, hired by defendant of the plaintiff. Mr. Dennes for the plaintiff, Mr. Bishop for the defendant

The defendant had hired the cart for haul-

The defendant had hired the cart for hauling bricks, and said that he had never hauled more than seven or eight hundred weight. It was elicited, upon a cross-examination, that from the number of bricks admitted to have been carried, he must have carried over a ton frequently. There was a considerable amount of hard swearing amongst the colored witnesses on both sides.

His Honor said that it was clearly laid down that a bailee of goods was liable for injury done to those goods whilst in his care, and although he did not think that the plaintid was entitled to the full amount. It was clear that the wagon had been ill-used, and the plaintiff was entitled to damages. The vedict would be for $15.

BOTLE AND COMPANY V. RABSON.

BOYLE AND COMPANY V. KABSON.

Was an action for $72 for potatoes sold and delivered. Mr. Dennes for plaintiff, Mr. Drake for defendant.
The evidence was most contradictory. The defendant stated that he had paid the money for all the potatoes which he had purchased. The plaintiff distinctly denied this statement. har a His Honor said that it was proved that the defendant had received the polatees, and the plaintiff must have the benefit of that proof, although the evidence was most conflicting, and the verdict must be for the plaintiff.

A number of cases, of no public interest, were disposed of. We noticed six professional gentlemen in attendance.

VICTORIA THEATRE.—The performance last night by Mr. Ward's company drew another crowded house, and right well were the audiance rewarded. The pieces represented on rthis occasion were the two act comedy of "Asmoders " or " The Little Devil's Share," folllowed by un "Object of Interest," and concluding with the amusing musical farce of a Loan of a Lover." in each of which the inimitable commedienne, Mrs. W. H. Leighton, elicited the warmest approbation from an admiring audience. Embued as this actress is with such versatility of talent, her perfect admiring audience. Embeds at this acress is with such versatility of talent, her perfect self-possession, sprightliness of manner, and augracteristic bonhomic, cannot fail to win for ker golden opinions. Indeed, Yictoria would be an exception to every other city which she has visited were those who have witnessed her not carried away by her attractive powers. While passing this eugligium, however, up the star of the evening, we must not withhold a tribute of praise from others of the company, who likewise acquitted themselves with much ability. Miss Belle Douglas, Mrs. N. Leslie, and Miss Clark in their respective characters were excellent. The accomplished actor, Mr. A. IR. Phelps, faithfully portrayed the Don in the first piece, and was well supported by Messre. Townsend, Thorne, Hamilton, and Benoux. The veteran Potter was as entertaining as ever, and in the concluding farze Mr. Ruby enacted simple Peter Spyke with considerable humor. A programme presenting great attractions is offered this evening.

the ravine on Broad street, between Johnson and Pandora streets. Besides the fact of there never having been any rail on the ravine eide to protect passers-by from insadvertantly walking off in the dark, the whole structure is in the most rickety and unsafe condition, the supports having sunk away from the flooring, leaving it suspended only by the sleepers. There is every probability that it may give way beneath the foot of some unwarry pedestrian, precipitating him into the ravine beneath, a depth of fully twenty feet. We understand that the side-walk has been in this disgraceful stats for some time, and we would advise the civic authorities to look to the matter speedily, or they may be mulcted in heavy damages to atome for the fracture mayhap of the limb of some unfortunate.

Tuesday, October 27th, 1863. THE ALLEGED HORSE STEALING CASE. THE ALLEGED HORSE STRALING CASE.

Mr. Bishop stated on behalf of O'Brien that, after the evidence of Wm. Ross, he would not attempt to affirm that the mare did not belong to Mr. Tod, but he would urge that at the time O'Brien took the mare and sold her, he firmly believed she belonged to the control of th his wife, and he was willing to refund the money received and declare that the mare did pelong to Mr. Tod.

Mr. Pemberton said there was not sufficient but O'Brien had certainly acted with great indiscretion. The prisoner was dismissed. ALLEGED FRAUD. In the case of McLoughlin and Westley, charged by Mahomet Assan with conspiring to defraud him, Mr. Bishop on behalf of the prosecution stated that the arch offender was evidence before him to send the case for trial prosecution stated that the arch offender was non est, and he could only charge the prisoners with receiving the deposit of $15.

The charge against Edward McLoughlin was part and parcel of the same.

His Worship dismissed the crimical charge against the two first prisoners, and ordered the last named prisoner to be bound over to appear on the 10th November.

James Robinson and Robert Leadbetter, pear on the 10th November.

ROBBERY.

James Robinson and Robert Leadbetter, charged with stealing the sum of $135 from John Clemence, were again brought up. Mr. Bishop proposed to receive Leadbetter as Queen's evidence.

Robert Leadbetter sworn, said—There was a raffle at the St. Nicholas, and he won the horse. They drank considerable after this, and he accompanied prisoner to the Island Hotel, where they met John Clemence. Ue went outside when Clemence was asked by Mr. Brown and others what money he had. It pulled out his purse, when a man who was with him, samed Kelly, counted out $135, and returned the money in the purse to Clemence. Kelly then took his arm and went off with him, to take him home; but when and refurned the money in the purse to Clemence. Kelly then took his arm and went off with him, to take him home; but when he got as far as Patrick's, he said, "let the old — go," and Kelly returned. Prisoner and witness then went to bed in their rooms over the stables. On the following evening witness and prisoner went to the L7ceum, and thence to Keenan's, where witness left the prisoner and went home. On the following morning about 9 celock, R-binson came to the stables drunk, and Mr. Williams gave him his money and told him to go. Prisoner was rather insolent. Shortly afterwards, when the coach was going to Esquimalt, witness told the driver, if he saw Robinson, to tell him to keep out of the way. What he meant was, that if Robinson came to the place, Mr. Williams would be sure to lock him up.

In answer to Mr. Bishop, witness stated

ALLEGED ROBBERY AT THE BALLARAT.

John McDonald was charged by Martin Metzger, of the Ballarat Hotel, with stealing 2150 from his premises on Government street.

Mr. Bishop prosecuted, and stated the circumstances connected with the charge, which have already been made public.

Mr., Mrs. and the two little Miss Metzger's were severally heard, and the prisoner was further remanded for two days.

General Negrete, with 5000 soldiers, had moved to-wards the city of San Juan de los Llamos, a a short distance from the City of Mexico, intending to make that city his base of operations, with the object of keeping control of the valley of Mexico. The French had left three different detachments for the purpose of checking Negrete in his movements, but he had invariably been successful in whipping them, as at Napolucan and Zumpango.

There is a great deal of distress amongst the poorer classes in the City of Mexico, and instead of the French establishing a government of equality, it is now looked upon as a teign of terror. They have a whipping post treated at the barracks, and for the most trivial offences persons were daily brought up and flogged. By the arrival here on Sunday of the steam ship Constitution, via Manzanillo, we are in receipt of papers and private advices from the city of Mexico, dated August 25th, also from Gualdajara to September 22d, and from San Luis Potosi to August 30th. The news is interesting. The activity of the guerillah had become very harassing to the French forces in the City of Mexico, the former having at the present time control of the roads leading from Vera Cruz to the capital.

Gen. Cuillar, who is in command of a considerable force, attacked the "traitor" forces at Acatzingo on the 13th of August, and deleated them, capturing a large train of material of war.
